OUTLINES.

The Secretary of State of Alabama, under a State law which provides that penalty, has cancelled the license of the Southern Railway to do business in the State of Alabama, the railroad company having violated the law against removing a case from a State to a Federal Court——The government crop report shows that the condition of the growing cotton crop up to July 25th was 75.0 against 82.9 in July, 1906, and a ten year average of 82.6——At Clinton, Ill., Frederick Magill and his bride of four weeks are in jail, indicted for murdering the man's first wife or securing her suicide by compact in order that they might marry.——The Isthmian Canal Commission yesterday opened bids for 500 steel dump cars to be used on the Panama canal construction, the lowest bid being $556,000——Near Jackson, Mich., yesterday an electric car ran into an automobile, instantly killing three ladies and so injuring another that she died on the way to the hospital——The latest returns from the Democratic Senatorial primary in Mississippi show that John Sharpe Williams, minority leader of the House, has been nominated for the Senate over Gov. Vardamann by the narrow margin of about 500 votes——Near Baxley, Ga., Thursday night, N. A. Brunside, of Columbia, S. C., was shot and killed by his life-long friend, Clarence Gilmore, whose wife informed him that Burnside had made improper proposals to her——The Pere Marquette Railroad, extending to Detroit, anounces that it will not contest the two-cent passenger rate law just adopted by Michigan.——Secretary Hester, of the New Orleans Cotton Exchange estimates the world's visible supply of cotton at 2,840,921 bales, against 2,255,292 last year——New York markets: Money on call easier at 2 1-4 to 3 per cent., ruling rate, 2 1-2; closing bid, 2 1-2; offered at 2 3-4; spot cotton, 25 points higher, closing steady at 13.25; flour steady with a fair demand; wheat firm, No. 2, 61 elevator and 60 1-2 f. o. b. afloat; oats strong, mixed 52 1-2; turpentine and rosin steady.

Japan has no objection to our monkeying around with our warships in our own waters. That's what we flowed.

A glimpse at the field reveals the fact that the Democratic party is not short, either North or South, on sound Democratic material. A sane platform and a united party is what is needed.

Every question has two sides to it for the man who doesn't care to take a stand one way or the other. It is conviction that makes a man show his colors.

The Star is opposed to government ownership of railroads and is opposed to everything that will drive the people to that desperate alternative as a remedy.

The Koreans are making a game kick, but they may as well make up their minds that they will be benevolently assimilated by the Japanese—same as we did the Filipinos.

Senator Foraker seems to fear that the Republican party with Taft at its head for President will be committed to revision of the tariff. Foraker shouldn't let his fears fool him like that.

A Confederate monument is to be unveiled in Chatham, August 23d. Chief Justice Walter Clark will deliver the address and there will be an interesting programme. This shows that the old soldier is not forgotten.

Associate Justice Brewer boasts that he started life with 60 cents. The point which he probably wishes to impress upon us is that he still has his 60 cents and has added to it a whole lot of money with which other fellows "started life."

The Federal Government is trying to put dynamite under the Powder Trust. While the suit is on it would be interesting to ascertain how the head of the Powder Trust happened to get into the United States Senate in the body of Senator DuPont, of Delaware.

Values in the State have increased in proportion to the prosperity wave. In 1898 the Nimocks building on Hay street, in Fayetteville, sold for $4,000, but a few days ago it changed hands at $11,250. Fayetteville is one of those North Carolina cities where values are bound to go up, for it has a bright future before it.

Lawyer Pell, of Winston-Salem, who is getting out an annotated revisal of the Code up to the 1907 session of the General Assembly, has discovered that some liquor legislation concerning one of our eastern counties was put through under the title of "An act to regulate fishing." Any legislator is likely to be thrown off his guard when liquor and fishing are mentioned under the same head.

FURNITURE DEALERS

Forthcoming Convention of Retail Men of The State at Wrightsville Beach.

MUCH INTEREST IS SHOWN

Members of Association Coming From All Parts of North Carolina—Entertainment of Visitors on This Occasion.

The Merchants' Journal of Raleigh in its issue of this week devotes an entire page to the forthcoming fourth annual convention of the Retail Furniture Dealers' Association of North Carolina at Wrightsville Beach, the Hotel Tarrymore, on August 13th and 14th, the programme of which was recently published in these columns. The convention last year was held in Winston-Salem and about one hundred members of the Association with a large number of members of their families were in attendance. The membership of the Association embraces nearly every dealer in North Carolina and the attendance this year promises to show an increase over that of 1906.

Referring to the arrangements for the gathering here, the Journal says:

"The Association will be well entertained by the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce and the Merchants' Association. Mr. Henderson Cole, known to every furniture dealer in North Carolina, and everybody else worth knowing, is in charge of the local programme. An elaborate banquet will be served on the evening of the 14th, and all of the pleasures of the seaside will be afforded the delegates.

"A special committee will be appointed to entertain the visiting ladies.

"Many important matters are to be before this Convention, and every furniture dealer in the State is urged to be present."

One of the objects of the Association is to eliminate sales by the manufacturer direct. The special aims of the Association are outlined as follows:

(1) To protect and promote the welfare and interests of members by establishing more intimate relations with each other.

(2) To provide methods and means whereby our members may avail themselves of the greater power of combined effort, through the Association, acting as an authoritative body, in endeavoring and securing just and honorable dealing from the manufacturers and manufacturers' agents.

(3) To secure uniformity of action among the members of the Association upon the general principles herein set forth, and upon such other principles as may be decided from time to time as best for the general welfare of the members of the Association.

(4) To use our combined efforts to receive special railroad rates for those attending the different furniture expositions.

(5) For such other purposes as may appear of general interest to members.

Mr. B. F. Huntley, of Greensboro, is president and Mr. W. B. Summersett, of Salisbury, is secretary of the Association.

MR. RICHARDSON TO LEAVE

Popular District Agent of The Equitable Here Receives Promotion.

It will be news that will come with regret to hundreds of friends in this city that Mr. R. R. Richardson, the popular district agent of the Equitable Life Assurance Society in this territory, is contemplating removing from Wilmington either to Norfolk, or Richmond, Va. Mr. Richardson has recently received a deserved promotion with the Equitable people at a considerable increase of salary; in fact the offer is such a flattering one that he does not see how he can forego acceptance, in spite of the fact that he has just built and removed into a handsome residence at Carolina Place and is well pleased with Wilmington as a place of residence. It is learned that Mr. Richardson will dispose of his residence and other holdings in Wilmington, though he will remain in the city until the first of January.

The Grand Encampment.

The Winston-Salem Journal says: "Salem Encampment, No. 20, Independent Order Odd Fellows, are making elaborate preparations for the entertainment of the Grand Encampment of North Carolina, which meets here on Tuesday, August 13. The Encampment will be in session for two days. It is expected that some thirty or forty delegates will be present. The first session will be held on Tuesday night, August 13, and the second and final session will be held on Wednesday. This is the higher branch of Odd Fellowship."

GAMES TO-DAY

Doubleheaders in Both City League and Southside Association—Exhibitions at Hilton Park Will Attract Crowds.

Both the City Baseball League and the Southside association have tempting menus for their patrons today if the weather is at all favorable. At Hilton Park the City League teams will line up for two games and both are expected to be way up above the average. At 3 o'clock the Monarchs and Giants will be pitted one against the other. Both teams are now playing winning ball, the Giants last Saturday having trimmed the Y. M. C. A. invincibles for the first time this season. The Monarchs are standing well up in the percentage column and have a "hoo-doo" to overcome that they expect to shake in good fashion.

Flushed with a nine-to-three victory over the Monarchs last Saturday, the Rattlers, the erstwhile tailenders of the league, at 5 o'clock will tackle the Y. M. C. A. team and endeavor to turn the same trick that the Giants did at the last meet on the Hilton diamond. The game will be interesting in any event and it is expected that the attendance will equal, if not surpass, the attendance of last week.

The grounds of the Southside League have been enclosed and the games there this afternoon promise to be quite interesting. The general admission will be the nominal sum of five cents and the proceeds will be devoted to a worthy charity. Ten cents will be charged for seats which have been conveniently arranged inside the grounds. None under the influence of whiskey or disposed to be disorderly will be permitted to enter the grounds and the games may be patronized by ladies with impunity. The diamond is immediately on the car line and easy of access from any part of the city. The first game will be called at 3 o'clock and the competing teams will be the Wilmington Cotton Mills and the Union Leaders. The second game will be called at 5 o'clock and will be between the Wilmington team and the Gray Eagles. The teams have been down to hard practice and two fine exhibitions are promised.

MAYOR'S COURT YESTERDAY.

Interesting Contingent of Defendants. One to the Farm.

The Mayor had an interesting lot of defendants before the bar in the police court yesterday at noon. Alex. McRary, a small colored citizen arrested by Officer Frank George at Front and Red Cross, charged with throwing stones in the street, was let off upon condition that he be soundly thrashed under parental direction. Turner McLeod, another young Afro-American citizen, was charged by Officer E. H. Dement with breaking glass on the thoroughfare at Front and Princess streets. He was fined $5 and costs.

Lugenia McLeod, alias Bacchus, had married since she was last before the court, but she was easily recognized as an old and frequent offender. She was arrested by Officer M. A. Jones for being drunk and disorderly at Fourth and Brunswick streets, and notwithstanding the fact that she had hardly passed her honeymoon, she was given 30 days on the county farm. She is not likely to become homesick for "hubby," for she has often served time at the farm.

Joe Myer, a white sailor, charged with being drunk and down, was let off with the costs. The same considerate judgment was given in the case of Ammy Cumber, who fell by the wayside Thursday afternoon after having clung to the water wagon desperately for several months. He fell off with a thud Thursday and had to be brought in bodily from Water and Dock streets by Officer S. A. Nichols.

Mr. Adolph Goodman, charged with obstructing the sidewalk in front of his store with boxes, showed to the court he had no disposition to violate the law, and was discharged.

QUEST WAS IN VAIN.

Seems to Have Been No Truth in Story of Treasure Trove.

Mr. Thos. Swain, assistant cashier of the Carolina Savings & Trust Company of this city, returned yesterday from the old homestead of the family, 14 miles from Southport, in Brunswick county where it was reported that in tearing away an old chimney of prehistoric times, almost, a large amount of money had been found imbedded in the hearth. So far as Mr. Swain could ascertain there was no truth in the reports and he and his mother came back to the city. All the men engaged in tearing away the old landmark are understood to have denied all knowledge of the finding of any treasure, but the reports reached Southport and Wilmington in such semi-authentic manner that it was deemed best to investigate them. If any money was found in the old chimney by the colored men employed on the work, the public will, perhaps, never know except by accident. The reported find occasioned much interest in Wilmington and the return of Mr. Swain from his investigation was awaited with interest by his friends here. .

NEWS FROM RALEIGH

Council of State Approves Convict Arrangement For Mattamuskeet Railroad Co.

THREE CHARTERS GRANTED

Bladenboro Carries Special Tax for Schools—Governor to Speak on Prohibition—Well Known Citizen Has Paralysis.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., Aug. 2.—At a meeting of the Council of State this morning an order was passed approving the bond and other financial showing in assurance of the ability and purpose of the Mattamuskeet Railroad Company, to construct and operate that line of road in Hyde county and providing that the company be allowed fifty convicts for construction work as soon as the company is ready for work to begin, the compensation for the convict labor to be in stock by the State in the road.

This is the first of the four roads for which special acts for convict labor were passed by the last Legislature. It will be remembered that the acts were so drawn that a strict compliance might have seriously embarrassed the State and the prison finances, and to avert this the Council of State, some weeks ago, held a conference with the representatives of the roads interested to reach an agreement whereby there could be some equitable, if any, compliance with the acts. This resulted in a decision by the Council of State that the convicts would be furnished only in case the railroad company applying, gave substantial proof of ability and purpose to complete the road and furnish all materials to be used in building, the State having to merely guard and feed the convicts.

The road is to be from Pamlico Sound to Belhaven and towards Washington, a distance of at least 43 miles, opening up a fine country. It is expected that the work will begin in 30 days.

Three charters were granted this morning for new enterprises in Guilford, Moore and Mecklenburg counties. The Dixie Realty Company, of Greensboro; capital, $25,000, by C. C. Wright and others. The Elsie Manufacturing Company, of Hemp, Moore county, capital, $50,000, authorized, and $1,000 subscribed, by A. J. Jones and others. The Charlotte Realty Company increases capital from $100,000 to $300,000. J. H. Little is president of the company.

The State Department of Education is notified that Bladenboro, Bladen county, has just voted a special tax for the improvement of public schools; also that the town of Mocksville, Davie county, has voted a special tax of 50 cents on the $100 valuation of property for the improvement of schools and also for $5,000 bonds to issue for new public school buildings for the town.

Governor Glenn has accepted an invitation to deliver an address at Edenton, Sunday night, in the interest of an election soon to be held for prohibition. A warm campaign is on against saloons and the prohibitionists are claming that they have every prospect of winning out in the fight.

Mr. Thomas Scarlett, a well known and highly esteemed citizen of Raleigh, was stricken with paralysis this morning close by the south entrance to Capitol Square. He was conveyed to his home on McDowell street in a helpless and almost unconscious condition. The extent of the paralysis has not been ascertained. His condition is critical.

The work on the North Carolna Grand Lodge Masonic Temple is progressing rapidly now. The steel reinforced concrete construction is something new for Raleigh and attracts hundreds of spectators who watch the progress of the work.

FUNERAL OF MR. COLLIER.

Remains of Young Wilmingtonian Laid to Rest Yesterday.

In the presence of a large assemblage of friends and relatives, impressive funeral services were conducted at 11 o'clock yesterday morning from St. James Church over the remains of the late James Knight Collier, who passed away at his home in this city Wednesday morning after a long illness. The services were by Bishop Strange, assisted by the Rev. James Carmichael, D. D., and were very impressive, indeed. Mr. Samuel P. Collier, Jr., arrived from Montgomery, Ala., and Dr. G. Kirby Collier, from Sonyea, N. Y., during the morning and attended the obsequies.

The pall-bearers were Capt. John F. Divine, Mr. Walter Buckner and Drs. Thos. F. Burbank and E. J. Wood, honorary; Messrs. Champ McD. Davis, S. A. Schloss, Chas. E. Taylor, J. W. Perrin, W. G. Pulliam and James H. Cowan, active.

EXAMINATION IS WAIVED

No Preliminary Hearing Yesterday in Sensational Charge Brought By State Insurance Department Against Mr. G. M. Murrell.

Through his attorneys, Messrs. Bellamy & Bellamy, the defendant, Mr. Gaston M. Murrell, charged with setting fire to the combined store and dwelling at Fifth and Campbell street last Sunday morning, waived examination in Justice Furlong's court yesterday morning at 10 o'clock, when the case was called, and he was continued under the same bond for his appearance at the term of New Hanover Superior Court which will convene on Monday, September 23d. The bond is $500 and the defendant's brother, ex-Alderman Z. E. Murrell, became his surety.

The appointed preliminary trial attracted a large crowd to the court room of Justice Furlong at the hour named, but at the unexpected turn the case took, there was disappointment among the spectators, neither the defence nor the contentions of the prosecution having been outlined by the attorneys engaged. The State was represented by Herbert McClammy, Esq., counsel for the Insurance Department of the State, and Solicitor Duffy, State's attorney in the Superior Court, who has been spending some time at the beach since the adjournment of court last week. A number of Mr. Murrell's friends were present, with him for the hearing, and these included a number of character witnesses, who will testify to his high character and standing in the community. Included among the number are Mayor William E. Springer, Mayor Pro Tem. Martin O'Brien and others of high station in the community.

The principal witness for the State is Deputy Insurance Commissioner W. A. Scott, who came to Wilmington to investigate the fire two days after it occurred. Chief Schnibben and several of the firemen are also among the number of witnesses for the State, while there have also been summoned Mr. and Mrs. John W. Blomme, Mrs. W. H. Howe, and possibly others of the family, which occupied the second floor of the building as living apartments. Mr. Murrell's store was on the first floor, and it was in this that the fire originated.

EXTRAORDINARY HONOR

Unusual Mark of Respect Shown to Deserving Colored Man.

An extraordinary mark of respect was shown yesterday by the Kidder Lumber Company to the memory of a faithful colored man, John Lord, one of the old ante-bellum type, who died at his post of duty at the mill day before yesterday. The old man had reached the advanced age of 65 years and he had been in the employ of the Kidders for 40 years. For the past several weeks he had been ill and his health had been broken, but he was one of the faithfuls who had an idea that the mill could not run without him and continued to come to his work daily as faithful as the whistle calling the men to their daily toil at the works. One day this week he went to his post of duty in spite of the protest of his employers and a little while afterwards he was found where he had crawled up under one end of a pile of boards, in a critical condition. He was sent home in a carriage, but the summons had arrived and he passed away in a short length of time.

Such faithfulness to duty was deserving of recognition and it came yesterday afternoon as the old man was being laid away. After 12 o'clock the big plant was shut down and not a wheel was turned for the remainder of the day out of respect to James Lord, fine old Southern darkey, one of Nature's noblemen. From proprietors down the mill force turned out to the old man's funeral. Had he been living, he would have almost undergone the sting of death again to have seen the manner in which his faithfulness had been rewarded.

CASWELL VS. WHITEVILLE.

Soldiers and Civilians on the Baseball Diamond This Week.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Fort Caswell, N. C., Aug. 1.—The baseball team of this place defeated the Whiteville team in two well played games at this place yesterday afternoon and this morning. The game yesterday was a close contest, won by Fort Caswell by a score of 4 to 3. Jones, who pitched for the Fort, allowed the visitors but eight hits, while the locals cracked out 13 safeties on Clark, the opposing pitcher. Batteries first game, Fort Caswell, Jones and Osborne; Whiteville, Clark and Smith. The second game was won by Fort Caswell, score 9 to 4. Fort Caswell got 18 safe hits and Whiteville 12. Batteries: Fort Caswell, Crow, Jones and Osborne; Whiteville, Tucker, Cobb, Clark and Smith. The feature of the game was the hitting of Collignon, Caswell's second baseman, who made three hits and three runs with four times to bat. The fielding of Byrd, third baseman and captain of the Caswell team, was also a feature.

The Polvogt Company will begin on Monday to close out their entire stock. Watch Sunday's paper. **

IT IS TO DECORATE

Mayor Urges Upon Business Men to Present Outward Welcome to Firemen.

BIG BUILDINGS INCLUDED

Parade Will Be Big Feature of Week's Events—Several Companies Coming to Camp Out During the Big Meet—Notes.

Although many of the merchants and business men down town have manifested a spirit of enterprise and public spirit in decorating for the Fremen's Tournament, there are yet many who have done nothing to show an outward welcome to the laddies of the State when they reach the city next week. Some of them will begin arriving on Monday and it is important that the decorations be complete by this time. While many of the places down street are attractive in flags and bunting and fire insignia, there are many who have manifested no disposition whatever to get in line with civic pride manifested by their neighbors, and the consequence is that here and there one finds an unbroken line of decoratons; then the vision is suddenly assailed by bare walls and a break of the continuity. This is especially true of some of the larger buildings, the show places in town, which above all others should be attractively decorated. Where these buildings are owned by lodges or other quasi-public institutions, it would be a very easy matter to get concerted action upon the part of members or tenants and the owners of such buildings should take these steps at once. It is especially desired that the buildings on Front, Market and Princess streets should be appropriately dressed in colors in honor of the firemen.

Mayor Springer takes this matter very much to heart, and as there will be many officials as well as firemen from all over the State here for the big meet, he says that if he thought it would do any good, while not "strong" on such things, he would issue a proclamation calling upon the business men on the principal streets to decorate. He intimated that he might make an effort to have the City Hall and the other buildings belonging to the municipality suitably decorated. At the Elks Convention in Philadelpha a week or two ago, the decorations on the City Hall there and on other public buildings were the most elaborate in the town. It should be the same way in Wilmington. The County Commissioners, a broad, liberal body of business men, it is certain, will see that the Court House is decorated if the officials of the city will do likewise.

As the date for the tournament approaches, it is certain that the attendance is going to be the largest on record. Every mail brings letters from companies far and near asking that accommodations be reserved for them. Several companies have asked for space where they may pitch tents and encamp here during the week. These have been provided with all the accommodations necessary in this respect, and the tournament will be an encampment and firemen's meet all in one. The Oxford companies have asked for a portion of the Summer Rest encampment grounds, which now belong to the city, and this has been let to them. They will arrive Monday, pitching tents on the lands and coming up to Wilmington daily for the sessions of the convention and for the races.

The parade will be one of the big features of the tourney and a meeting of the committee in charge was held yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the office of Col. John VanB. Metts. The line of march and other details are being worked out and will be announced later. In addition to the fire apparatus and section of automobiles for which special prizes are offered there will be a section of mounted men, arrangements for which are being made. There will also be a department of the pageant devoted to bicycles and many of the little fellows are expected to be in line. .

Emphasis is laid on the fact that the average citizen can help much to entertain the firemen when they come, and they can do no better than to throw all their influence towards a scheme for general decorations.

Back From District Conference.

Rev. A. J. Parker, pastor of Bladen Street M. E. Church, returned last evening from the Warrenton District Conference at Ahoskie, N. C., where he went in the interest of the Louisburg Female College, of which he is one of the trustees. Mr. Parker reports that the conference was a success in every respect and that he received very encouraging support for the college which he represented. The conference adjourned to meet next year at Littleton, N. C. The delegates to the general conference are J. J. Hayes, of Ahoskie; Rev. Raymond Browning, of Littleton; J. F. Flythe, of Jackson, and W. E. Moss, of Henderson. The conference heard exceptionally fine addresses from Rev. J. C. Wooten, of the chair of Biblical Literature at Trinity College, and Dr. T. N. Ivey, editor of the Christian Advocate.

OHIO POLITICS AND TAFT.

The attention of the country is being fixed upon the factional fight among the Republicans in Ohio and its effect upon the chances of Secretary Taft to secure the nomination of his party for President. Some are prepared to believe that the opposition of Senator Foraker will cook Taft's goose, for the negro voters will follow Foraker. The negroes in Ohio hold the balance of power between the Republican and Democratic parties in that State, and if they vote against the Republican nominee or refuse to vote at all the Democrats are liable to carry the State. The Ohio negroes have no love for Taft and are said to be for Hughes for President. Concerning the situation there, the Washington Post has this to say.

"Faction in Ohio made Salmon P. Chase's ambition to be President futile, and in three successive national conventions John Sherman was laid out on the cooling board by delegates from Ohio, who were commissioned to compass his nomination. McKinley fared better in 1896, when Hanna conceded a cerule chair for a loyal delegation.

"It is faction that lends the keenest zest to politics, and except New York no State has seen more of it than Ohio, that has succeeded to the place once held by Virginia as the 'Mother of Presidents.' Of the seven Presidents given the country by the Republican party, and not counting Arthur, who 'drew the capital prize in the lottery of assassination,' five were natives of Ohio and three of these were citizens of that State when inaugurated.

"Of the numerous candidates for the Republican nomination next year the most formidable is an Ohio man; but faction is at work, and he will not get the plum without a tremendous struggle at home. Senator Foraker is a very strong man, the Blaine of Ohio, and he has served notice that Secretary Taft must reckon with him, and has issued an invitation for a meeting at Philippi.

"But we are inclined to think that the Senator has made a tactical blunder in the attempt to put the tariff revision label on the Secretary. If Mr. Taft shall become the recognized candidate of the revisionists in the Republican party, he will get the nomination, regardless of the conflagration in his rear at home. Tariff revision will go into the platform. That is certain, and the demand for it is so importunate as to make hopeless the candidature of the pronounced standpatter. Massachusetts, on the North Atlantic, and Iowa, on the North Mississippi, are alike committed to revision, and the majority for revision in the conventon will be overwhelmng.

"No one pretends that the Republican party is a tariff reformer; but no one will deny that the Republican party is a consummate politciian and knows a hawk from a handsaw when the wind hails from a favorable quarter. Just now tariff revision is borne on the breeze, and the Republican party can be depended on to go through the motion of revision at least.

"Senator Foraker could not do Secretary Taft a greater service than to make him the representative of tariff revision. It may cost him half a dozen delegates from Ohio, but it will bring to him the support of half a dozen delegations from other States. It is a rather interesting situation—Taft and revision against the field."

The Post has time and again declared that the Republican party will stand for revision of the tariff next year, but all who believe that the G. O. P. will do much revising if it carries the country are requested to hold up their hands as a sign that they are n the market for gold bricks.

ANNOTATED REVISAL OF 1907.

The Legislature, in session last January, made 609 amendments to the Code and added 317 new sections. George P. Pell, Esq., of the Winston-Salem bar, under an appropriation by the General Assembly, is engaged upon a new annotated revisal of the Code, including the Legislative acts of 1907. He now announces that it will be ready in September. The delay has been caused by reason of the fact that the work was of greater magnitude than was anticipated. Mr. Pell is now being assisted by Mr. Alex Stronach, of Raleigh, lately an assistant editor of the Cyclopedia of Law, and together they are pushing the revisal to completion.

To show the carelessness and oddities of legislation, Mr. Pell says of his discoveries in looking into the new laws:

"Many of these amendments were made because the Code Commission had established uniformity and harmony as between laws applicable to different counties and the representatives of these different counties seemed determined to restore the old order of things, which means chaos again. Then many of the new sections would never have been passed had some members been familiar with the contents of the Revisal of 1905. For instance, there were at least a dozen acts passed relative to public drunkenness, when a section covering the same ground was already in existence. The same way with acts preventing hunting on the land of another. But of course there was more important general legislation passed than perhaps has ever been passed before, and all this will appear codified under the different chapters according to to the excellent arrangements of the Code Commission. It will possibly surprise the members of the bar to know that it has been discovered that active and contributing members of military companies are now exempt from jury duty as they were prior to two years ago. It may surprise people in an eastern county to learn that some liquor legislation was put through concerning that county under the title of "An act to regulate fishing."

THE REVIEWS OF REVIEWS.

The American Review of Reviews for August is one of the handsomest and most readable numbers of that great magazine. The leading articles are "The Farms Debt to Science"; "Mark Twain, Doctor of Letters"; "The Regeneration of San Francisco"; "Taft as a Judge and His Labor Decisions"; "South American Railroad Building"; "Study of the Human Plant," etc. This indicates the feast of reason in The Review of Reviews, not to mention the forty-two articles by Dr. Albert Shaw, the editor, who discusses in his lucid and informing way practically all the current questions of the day. The Review of Reviews is interestingly illustrated, and all its features are complete. It is sent a year for $3.00 and is on sale at 25 cents per copy. CURRENT COMMENT.

—Some of the weekly papers that come to our office are in favor of a new set of state officers out and out. The point is made that all of them, except the governor, have had two terms, and it is time for them to step aside and let somebody else take hold. —Waynesville Courier.

—Says the Wilmington Star: "It was a good thing for somebody that Judge Pritchard didn't burn his bridges behind him when he left Asheville for Raleigh." He appears to have burnt the wind in his mad rush to Raleigh and return.—Waynesville Courier.

—President Roosevelt can quite well afford to read with satisfaction the taunting telegrams which Haywood's acquittal has inspired Emma Goldman, Alex Bergman and other anarchists to send him. These people's hostility can but serve to increase his popularity. Actual assassination is all that a President of the United States need ever fear at their hands.—Charlotte Observer.

—While we are feeling so good over the recently adduced evidence that North Carolina is a sovereign State, we are reminded of the new slogan suggested for the State by Col. Copeland, editor of the Richmond Times-Dispatch. Col. Copeland, by the way, is a native of this State. This is the slogan he suggested at the press convention two years ago at Asheville: "North Carolina: First at creation; farthest from land at the flood; and last at the resurrection."—Newbern Sun.

—In another column is published a letter from one who says he is a Republican, but would like to see Governor Glenn get the Democratic nomination for the Presidency. While the suggestion will doubtless meet with popular approval at the present time, we believe that the North Carolina Democracy is pledged to William Jennings Bryan, and unless that individual decides to withdraw, or is pushed out of the race by circumstances which we cannot now foresee, the hands of the Old North State will be practically tied as far as Robert B. Glenn is concerned.—Asheville Citizen.

TWINKLINGS.

—It may be difficult to exaggerate the importance of some men, but they generally succeed in doing it.—Puck.

—"Doctors never bleed people now, do they?" "Great Scott, man! did you never have one of them send you a bill?"—Baltimore American.

—Fond Mother (showing baby)—They say it's like me but I think it has it's father's nose. Visitor—It is a bit red, isn't it? After that they did not speak for a long time.

—Doctor—In time this trouble will affect your mind. Fair Patient (in tone of relief)—I was afraid it would compel me to give up society.

—She—All my friends have motor cars now, and you won't give me one. He—Well, wait until aeroplanes are fashionable, then I will buy you one, and that will be much more distinguished.

—Hostess—Yes, the walls of our flat are so thin that my husband and I learned the deaf and dumb alphabet. Friend—What for? Hostess—So that we could quarrel without being overheard by the neighbors.

—"Who is that youngster?" asked the visitor to the sanctum. "That," replied the editor, "is just the new office boy." "Oho! I thought his face seemed familiar—" "Perhaps it is, but his manner is more so."—Philadelphia Press.

—"I gave you a dime and you went immediately into a saloon," remarked the benevolent old gentleman. "Don't you know it is very wasteful to spend your money for liquor?" "I've often thought of that, sir," replied the weary wayfarer, "but I've never yet found a place where I could get it for nothing." —Philadelphia Record.

Nursing Mothers and Malaria.
The Old Standard GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC, drives out malaria and builds up the system. For grown people and children, 50c.

The Limit of Life.
The most eminent medical scientists are unanimous in the conclusion that the generally accepted limitation of human life is many years below the attainment possible with the advanced knowledge of which the race is now possessed. The critical period, that determines its duration, seems to be between 50 and 60; the proper care of the body during this decade cannot be too strongly urged; carelessness then being strongly urged; careless then being fatal to longlevity. Nature's best helper after 50 is Electric Bitters, the scientific tonic medicine, that revitalizes every organ of the body. Guaranteed by R. R. Bellamy, Druggist. 50 cents.

GET INSIDE.

Your Friends and Neighbors in Wilmington Will Show You How.

Rubbing the back won't cure backache.
A liniment may relieve, but can't cure.
Backache comes from the inside—from the kidneys.
Doan's Kidney Pills get inside—
They cure sick kidneys.
Here is Wilmington proof that this is so:
J. A. White, formerly residing at 206 North Sixth street, Wilmington, N. C., says: "I have had great trouble with my back, right across the loins and when I sat still for a while I hardly knew how to move, and when I did you would think I was seventy-five years old. There were pains all over me and I could not tell where they were to strike me. I used liniments and lots of remedies, but nothing did me any permanent good until I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at Bellamy's drug store and used them. They helped me in a very short time and seemed almost to oil up my joints; in fact, I have not had the pains since I used them."
For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.
Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

MEN ARE POWERLESS
To Fight Against Disease Unless They Strike at the Underlying Cause.

To treat Dandruff, and Falling Hair, with irritants or oils on which a parasitic germ will prosper, is like scooping water from the ocean to prevent the tide from rising.
You cannot accomplish a satisfactory cure without having a right understanding of the fundamental causes of the trouble.
You must kill the Dandruff Germ.
Newbro's Herpicide does this because it is specially made to do that very thing.
When the germ is removed, the hair has no choice but to resume healthy growth and beauty.
"Destroy the cause, you remove the effect."

THE COWBOY.

[Original.]

Jack Arnold was his name. It was supposed to be an assumed name, for he was educated and not likely to use his own while a cowboy. It was not known that he was a college bred man and an athlete, for he never told them so. He was not a graduate; he had taken so much interest in foils and boxing gloves that he had no time for study. When he was sent away from the university he didn't go home; he went west and took the first job offered—punching cows.

He was sitting in the Alhambra saloon with a glass of whisky before him. A party of men were at the bar, among them Traphagan, the worst man in the territory. A little Mexican girl came in with an empty beer bottle and asked for a quarter's worth of "your most," meaning the most the barkeeper would give for that sum—that is, the poorest. She pushed against Traphagan, who, looking down and seeing a greaser girl, batted her with the palm of his hand and sent her sprawling on the floor.

Arnold was a fool to give way to impulse with a man like Traphagan. He should have either shot him or let him alone. He gave him a blow under the jaw and sent him after the little greaser. Traphagan was quick to draw, even though on the floor, but one of the party caught his arm, and the bullet went through the roof.

"Fists or nothing!" cried the crowd, and Traphagan, accepting the issue, went at his adversary for a boxing match. He was done up in two rounds. He acknowledged his defeat and set up a round of drinks for the crowd, including Arnold, insisting that the victor should drink. Arnold accepted, keeping his eye on the man while drinking.

One day later on Arnold was riding after cattle. Traphagan was following him at a distance with a rifle. Presently the latter came upon the body of a man with a hole in its skull. Evidently there had been a murder. Traphagan looked at it and was struck by an idea. Dismounting, he took the murdered man's belongings, a few small articles, then rode on.

Some hours later he found Arnold snoozing on the veranda of a tavern and slipped the dead man's property into his pockets. Then he went in to the bar and told those gathered there that he had seen a murder and Arnold was the murderer. They all went out, awakened the sleeper, searched him at Traphagan's suggestion and found the articles.

The dead man was identified, and the articles found on Arnold were proved to have belonged to him. This, with Traphagan's evidence that he had seen the murder, was sufficient, in the undeveloped state of justice in that region, to satisfy the untutored self constituted court, but those who had seen the fracas between the prisoner and his accuser gave an account of it and, showing a motive, threw discredit on Traphagan's testimony. The judge was puzzled.

"I dislikes muchly," he said, "when I've hearn one side of a case to hear the other. It allus mixes me up."

While he was deliberating what to do, who should appear but the little greaser girl whom Arnold had championed and said she had seen the murder.

"Who done it?" asked the judge.

She pointed to Traphagan.

The judge, if he had been puzzled before, was now thrown into absolute confusion. "This case is a bad un," he remarked, "and I see no way outen it but to hang 'em both."

"Why not let us two who have been accused of the murder fight it out?" said Arnold.

"That's a good idea, judge," one of the men who had seen the fracas between the two and longed to see another. "Let 'em decide it with fists."

"Make it guns," said Traphagan, "and I'll agree."

"No," said the judge reflectively; "I've hearn the witnesses tell that the cowboy, who's a leetle feller, topped you, a big feller, without a gun, and I think it's for the eddication of this yere community to have him show us how he done it. My decision is that the weepons be fists and the fight comes off at onct, the man that gets licked to be hanged."

This satisfied all parties except Traphagan, who saw the tables turned squarely against him. Nevertheless he was obliged to submit. A ring of onlookers was formed, and the battle began.

Arnold saw the advantage of pleasing the court and played with his antagonist. Now and again he permitted him to gain an advantage, but never to get in a blow, but after every advantage he gave his accuser punishment—not enough to knock him out, but to show his own skill. It was interesting to men who knew no weapon save powder and ball to see the big man toyed with by his smaller antagonist. Finally when Arnold saw that Traphagan was likely to fail to come up to the scratch he landed a blow that sent him half a dozen yards and down. This ended the battle.

Arnold, now that he was safe, was unwilling to see his enemy branded for a crime of which there was such slight proof that he was guilty. He took the greaser girl aside and asked her if she had really seen Traphagan commit the murder.

"No, sir," she replied.

"Have you told this lie to save me or to punish him, or both?"

"Both."

Arnold, whose skill in the ring had won him great favor with the judge, used it to secure Traphagan's acquittal.

RULES GOVERNING THE CONTEST. READ THEM CAREFULLY:

A.—All subscriptions must be received at the regular published rate. No discounts or commussions whatever will be allowed.

B.—No subscriptions will be received for a less time than three months.

C—Every subscription sent in under this offer must be a bone-fide new subscription to The Morning Star. No others will be received, and a careful investigation will be made to determine whether or not the name sent in is a new subscriber.

D.—Cash must accompany all orders.

E.—All that is necessary to win any of the trips enumerated above is that the subscriptions sent in shall aggregate the amounts named. Orders need not be for yearly subscriptions only. In securing subscriptions the following ratio may be observed: Two six-months' subscriptions are equivalent to one yearly subscription; four three months' subscriptions are equivalent to one yearly subscription.

F—The names of new subscribers, and the amounts collected, should be sent in as soon as obtained. Receipts will be forwarded to the subscribers at once, and the amount placed to the credit of the contestant.

G.—This exceptional offer will remain open to all until September 1, 1907. If you get to work at once there is time a plenty for you to secure one of the best trips. You may visit the Exposition any time you please.

Bloody Fight at Red Springs.

The Fayetteville Observer of yesterday afternoon says: "There was a terrible fight between two men at Red Springs between ten and eleven o'clock this morning which may prove fatally for one of the participants. The men were James Ezell and John Brigman, both white carpenters. While engaged in work on the same building they got into a dispute, and in a jiffy both whipped out their knives and began carving up each other. It is said that Brigman was frightfully cut up, and is in a critical condition. Ezzell, it is said, was also badly cut, but not dangerously hurt."

Lumberton to Fayetteville.

The Fayetteville Observer of yesterday afternoon has the following of interest throughout this section: "The contractors who are building the Virginia and Carolina Railroad, of which our townsman, Mr. J. F. L. Armfield, is President, have recently secured seventy-five convicts from the State penitentiary, and this, in addition to the present force, will push the work of construction from Lumberton on to Fayetteville. This road has trains now running from Lumberton to Bee Bee, its first station this side of Lumberton."

Children's Tacky Party.

There are many children among the hundreds of guests at the Hotel Tarrymoore, on Wrightsville Beach, and for their entertainment a delightful affair was given last night under the direction of Miss Kate Moore, Mrs. Akers, of Atlanta, and Miss Cora Moore, of Burgaw. It was a full fledged "tacky party" and in grotesque costumes the little folks disported themselves to their heart's content. The affair was well arranged and managed and the grown-ups as well as the tots enjoyed the unique affair.

Heavy Rain Storm Up the Road.

Parties who arrived on the train last evening from the North report that a very heavy rain storm passed over the section of country from Dudley to Magnolia, N. C. The rain came down in torrents and at Dudley a section of the railroad siding was washed out. Crops were badly damaged and beaten down. The rain continued down as far as Wallace and was very heavy in the Magnolia district. There was no rain at all in Wilmington and no cloud to speak of.

The wagon has been put in first class condition and a new rotary gong has been placed on the front for the driver.

—Southport Herald: "The special term of civil court will convene next Monday morning presided over by Judge E. B. Jones. There is a probability of their being a fairly heavy docket at present there being about 40 cases on the docket and about 15 cases by summons. This court was provided for by the last State Legislature on account of the congested condition of the civil docket."

—Southport Herald: "The tug Blanche left for Norfolk last Thursday afternoon having in tow the Alexander Jones which will have a new engine installed. The Jones is the property of the W. S. & L. R. Transportation Company and is used for sea towing principally. Captain W. A. Sanders will represent his company in the installation of the new machinery."

—Southport Herald: "Messrs. F. S. Pusey and A. J. Fanmestock of Philadelphia, two of the incorporators of the recently chartered Cape Fear, Southport and Atlantic Railroad which is capitalized at one million dollars, and is authorized to construct a railroad from Southport to the South Carolina line and also to Wilmington started their survey from Southport last Monday morning. In the party there are about ten all told including engineers. It could not be ascertained the direction in which the engineers will first make their survey."

Steamer Excursion Yesterday.

Captain J. H. Williams in command, reached the city yesterday morning

The steamer City of Fayetteville, about 7 o'clock, bringing ninety-odd excursionists from Fayetteville and intermediate points. The visitors spent the day in the city and at the beach, returning last night about sunset. About fifty of the visitors came all the way from Fayetteville, the fare for the round trip being only $1.50 without dining saloon accommodations.

Here on Their Honeymoon.

Yesterday afternoon's Fayetteville Observer says: "Mr. J. W. Scoggins and Miss Bettie Britt, both of Fayetteville, were on yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock united in marriage by Rev. V. G. Smith at his residence on Russell street. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Scoggins left on the 5 o'clock train for Wilmington and other places, to be gone for several weeks."

BRUNSWICK TELEPHONE

Line to Little River, S. C., is Now About in Operation.

The following from this week's Southport Herald will be read with interest by the business people of the city:

"The telephone line from Southport through Supply and Shallotte and on to Little River will be completed this week, so Mr. James S. Craig, manager of the new line says. This means that the above places will be in communication with the outside world as completely as is possible without a railroad. It is a thing that the people of that section of the county have been long needing, and now that their needs are to be realized it can safely be said that the new enterprise will be a success from the start. There will be three phones on the line from Little River to Southport. One at Little River in Stone Bros. store, one at Shallotte in Mr. F. P. White's store and one at Supply in the store of Mr. W. O. McKeithan. The toll from these places will be respectively 40 cents for three minutes from Little River to Southport, 25 cents from Shallotte and 15 cents from Supply. For messages that are to be sent through to Wilmington an additional charge of 25 cents will be made. For all messages over three minutes long a nominal sum will be charged for each additional three minutes."

Damages Awarded.

In Justice Furlong's court yesterday morning there was an interesting trial of a suit brought for damages of $200 against the Atlantic Coast Line by Mr. John R. Turrentine, Jr., the broker. The bone of contention was the refusal of the transportation company to deliver a car-load of starch to the plaintiff consignee until the amount of freight on the shipment had been paid. Mr. Turrentine showed that the freight had been prepaid from the initial point of shipment and judgment was given in his favor. Thomas W. Davis, Esq., counsel for the railroad, took an appeal to the Superior Court. Mr. Turrentine was represented by Herbert McClammy, Esq.

Mrs. Bartha G. Jordan Dead.

Mrs. Bartha G. Jodan, wife of Mr. W. J. Jordan and daughter of Mr. J. F. A. Reaves, passed away yesterday morning at 11:50 o'clock at the family home 106 Meares street, after an illness of but one week. The news of her death will come with sorrow to a great many friends. She is survived by one child, about five years old, four sisters, father and husband to mourn their loss. One sister, Mrs. Mary Temple, lives in Portsmouth, Va. The funeral will be conducted at the home on Meares street, at 4 o'clock this afternoon and the interment will be in Bellevue cemetery. Mrs. Jordan was 32 years of age.

Fayetteville Cotton Mill.

Yesterday afternoon's Fayetteville Observer has the following: "The J. Frederick Houston Company is to begin the erection next month of a big re-inforced concrete cotton mill at Cumberland, eight miles southwest of Fayetteville. This company already has one cotton mill in operation there, which was formerly owned by the Beaver Creek and Bluff Mills Manufacturing Company and the Cumberland Mills Manufacturing Company. That this company was to build another factory was only learned this afternoon, and the details in regard to the new factory have not yet been ascertained."

FREIGHT WRECK ON SUBURBAN

Car Jumped the Track at Winter Park Gardens Yesterday Morning.

Owing to the dropping of some part of the machinery underneath, an incoming freight car on the line of the Consolidated Company, near Winter Park Gardens, was wrecked yesterday morning. The car was coming along at good speed when the accident occurred and it jumped crosswise the track. Fortunately no one was hurt but traffic was blocked for several hours, passengers having to transfer there on a schedule which was quickly arranged to meet the emergency.

ELECTIONS IN RALEIGH.

Bonds for City Building and on Prohibition Question.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Raleigh, N. C., Aug. 2.—The Raleigh aldermen tonight ordered an election on September 26th on issuing $100,000 bonds for the erection of an auditorium, new municipal building of and city market. The board also received a petition from prohibition advocates for calling a "prohibition," or dispensary election. The petition has six hundred signers, the requisite number. The petition was referred to a special committee, to be reported back at the September meeting when it is expected an election will be called for a date in Christmas week, between December 26th and New Year's. The prohibitionists object to the Christmas election, but it cannot be held earlier after the bond elections.

Snags In English.

A Russian artist who has so thoroughly mastered the English language that all its subtleties are as familiar to him as are those of the language of the czar was telling a few friends about the difficulties he encountered. "You have so many superfluous letters," he said, "that when I began to think I was becoming a master of your language I succeeded in having myself laughed at a dozen times a day. I began to learn English in Boston, its American fortress. One day while walking with a friend I saw a street sign. 'Oh,' I said, 'what a funny name for a street! Kneeland street!' I pronounced the K. 'You're wrong,' said my friend. 'You pronounce it "Neeland" street. The K is silent.' I took the lesson to heart. The next day I went into a restaurant. I looked over the bill of fare. 'Give me some "idneys,"' I said. The servitor looked at me aghast. Finally in desperation I pointed to the record of what I wanted. 'Oh! Kidneys,' he said. 'Excuse me.' I rejoined haughtily, 'the K is silent.'"

WILLIAMS MAY BE WINNER

May Beat Governor Vardaman by 500 Majority.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Jackson, Miss., August 2.—Victory by the narrowest of margins for John Sharp Williams, minority leader of the House of Representatives, was the outlook late today from the official returns, more than 24 hours after the polls closed in the United States Senatorial primary.

Governor James K. Vardamn was leading Mr. Williams by fully 1,000 votes when the returns from the first 26 of Mississippi's 78 counties were in. Despite this lead, the Williams men, barring the prediction on unofficial advices as to the official vote in the other counties, claimed a victory by a bare 500 votes.

That their claim of victory was probably correct was admitted by the Vardaman force, who, however, estimated the plurality under 2,000 and declared that there was a possibility that Vardaman would win.

The returns will be completed late tonight. Three candidates are still in the race for the gubernatorial nomination. In returns from the first 26 counties E. F. Noel was leading. Chas. S. Scott was second and Earl Brewer, third, all running well. Another primary will be held to choose between the two highest in the present contest, which has six candidates. Luther Manship is leading for Lieutenant Governor.

Late tonight is is believed that the Senatorial race is extremely close with Williams 215 votes behind his opponent when the official returns from 51 counties, more than half the State were totalled.

Shortly after midnight Congressman Williams gave out a statement saying that he had heard from every county in the State, and that these returns indicated a victory for him with the plurality of about 3,000 votes. This was the smallest plurality which had yet been claimed for Mr. Williams. The 51 counties showed the following total:

Vardaman 28,313; Williams 28,098.

Of the candidates for governor, Noel, Scott and Brewer, were still ahead in the order named and with a small margin separating them.

Jackson, Miss., August 3—Vardaman continued to gain as the count neared the end. He was 635 votes in the lead with 64 counties heard from.

VIRGINIA'S FREIGHT RATE.

Uncertainty as to Whether Legislature Will be Convened.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Richmond, Aug.. 2.—There is great uncertainty as to whether or not the general Assembly of Virginia will be called in special session to consider the railroad rate matter. Governor Swanson stands ready to issue the call if the Corporation Commission and the State's legal advisors decide this course to be the wisest and most effective Commissioner Stuart was in conference with Attorney General Anderson, special counsel A. C. Braxton and United States John W. Daniel until late last night discussing the mode of proceedure but if any plan of action was decided upon it was not made public.

Governor Swanson said tonight:

"If the State Corporation Commission should request me to convene the General Assembly of Virginia some recommendation to be presented to amend the provisions of the constitution in reference to fixing rate charges in order to eliminate some difficulties in connecelon with the pending case in Virginia fixing rates, I would accede to their request and would convene the General Assembly of Virginia for that purpose."

The Governor has been in communication with members of the General Assembly who approve the stand he has taken.

INJUNCTION WAS REFUSED.

Court Will Not Interfere With 3-Cent Street Car Fare.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Memphis, Tenn., Aug. 2.—Federal Judge McCall today denied a petition of the Central Trust Company of New York city, holder of the Memphis Street Railway bonds, asking an injunction to restrain the city of Memphis from inaugurating 3-cent street car fares. The case had been appealed to the State Supreme Court from the State Circuit Court, the issue being the constitutionally of the city ordinance. The suit for a Federal injunction was entered pending a decision from the State Supreme Court.

Blue Eyed Babies.

It is a pity that all babies born with the prospect of being adopted out of an orphan asylum are not blessed with blue eyes. Most persons who wish to adopt children show a preference for the blue eyed variety.

"They seem to think," said the matron of one such institution, "that blue eyes give promise of great intelligence, honesty and general stability of character. That is pretty hard on the youngsters with eyes of brown, black gray or hazel. Undoubtedly those children will grow up to be just as worthy citizens as the blue eyed tots, but it is impossible to make most of the prospective parents-in-law believe so. They have been influenced by the arguments of certain half baked scientific writers who claim that all the virtues are found in blue eyes, and the dark eyed children, no matter what their parentage, suffer from the discrimination."—New York Sun.

The Old Warming Pan.

"Yes, that is a fine specimen of the old brass warming pan," said an amateur collector of antiques, quoted by the Philadelphia Record, "but it hangs on the wall from this time on. It will not be brought into requisition for actual warming purposes again. It's too good." Then he added contemplatively: "My daughter thought it would renew the ancient flavor of things to put that warming pan to use. So on one of the coldest nights of the winter she filled the pan end with live coals, shut the lid and put the pan into one of the beds. In a little while the house was filled with smoke, which, on being traced to its origin, was found to come from the bed, which was afire. With a few olden time wood embers these warming pans were all right, but with live anthracite they simply overdo the job. We put out the fire, but, as I say, from this time on the warming pan hangs on the wall empty."

Kneaded Earth.

Even old Pling wrote of "pisework," pronounced "pee-say-work." It was suggested by the building processes of the ants, and the durable walls made according to those wonderful architects of the insect tribe were called "formacie." The method was well known to the ancients, and some of the oldest houses in the world today are of this construction. Rondelet writes of a chateau in the department of Ain, France, which he repaired in 1764: "It was at least 150 years old, and the walls had acquired a hardness and compactness equal to ordinary stone, so that in enlarging the windows and other apertures the workmen used the same tools as in a quarry." Pie is simply kneaded earth. What is Mexican adobe?—New York Press.

A TURN of THE WHEEL.

By Constance D'Arcy Mackay.

Copyright, 1907, by Constance D'Arcy Mackay.

It was summer in Ballymoran—long days of blue and white and green, the blue of the sky, the white of drifting clouds and the bright green of the Irish turf. Gorse rose golden in the fields; wild roses bloomed by the hedges, fragile and exquisite, yet full of snares for the unwary. Many an eager child plucked at them only to withdraw a scratched finger.

Terry O'Rourke, looking up from his potato patch, philosophically observed that "thim flowers were as sharp as they were swate, ivry one o' thim," and then smiled to himself, thinking of Clodah Mulvaney. Hazel eyed she was, with red brown hair, cheeks like a wild rose and temper as keen edged as the prickliest thorn.

"Yet, faith, what matter about the thorns," said Terry, "if the rose be worth the winning!"

He was as quiet and determined as Clodah was hasty, and if, as his neighbors declared, he was a bit slow in his lovemaking he was none the less sure. True, he had a dangerous rival in Jim Hagan, who had lately fallen heir to a legacy and who had spent the half of it on a brand new jaunting car fit for the mayor himself. It was in this that Jim had begged Clodah to accompany him to the Gulmullet fair, some ten miles distant.

"Thank ye kindly, Jim," she answered, "but I've promised to go with Terence."

"Well, thin, it's myself that will have to ride alone," sighed Jim disconsolately, "for, sure, there's no one in Ballymoran who can take your place at all at all."

The night before the fair Clodah and Terry sat before her door discussing the joys of the morrow.

"We'll start early," said he, "and be back by nightfall."

"And I'll wear my best dress, with the blue ribbons," said Clodah, "and keep my coat in the back o' the cart."

"I mistrust ye'll have to hold it on your lap, mavourneen," said Terry, "on account o' the pig."

"Pig!" cried Clodah.

"I'm going to take the pig along in the back o' the cart. 'Tis a foine price I'm expecting to get for her, and"—

"Terry O'Rourke," shrieked Clodah, "do ye think I'd ride in a cart with a pig?"

"You've done it before."

"Niver with my best dress on."

"Lave your best dress at home, thin," said Terry humorously.

Clodah saw no humor in his remark.

"You can choose betwain us," she said haughtily. "Will ye take me or will ye take the pig?"

"But, Clodah, girrul, be reasonable. The pig can do ye no harm. She's as clean as an angel and as well behaved, and 'tis my only chance o' selling her."

Clodah stamped her foot.

"I've given ye your choice, Terry O'Rourke. Once and for all, which will ye take?"

Terry was usually slow to anger, but now a danger spark burned in his eyes.

"I'll take the pig," he said.

Clodah flew inside and banged the door.

Next morning she passed Terry's cabin, riding with Jim Hagan in his jaunting car. Her muslin dress was as blue as the sky, and its many ribbons fluttered in the wind. Terry was out in his garden, and Clodah feigned not to see him, though Jim glanced round with a look of triumph.

"How are ye, Terry?" he called out. "'Tis a foine day for the fair."

And they rattled gayly down the road, the new yellow wheels of the jaunting car shining in the sun.

Terry gazed after them. All the brightness seemed gone from life. It was as if the candle of his happiness had been blown out, leaving him in utter darkness. "'Twas a wise man," he muttered, "who said that fortune was a fickle jade. A turn of her wheel—and where are ye now, Terry O'Rourke?"

Then he harnessed up slowly, put the pig in the cart and took the road for Gulmullet.

There was no one to see Clodah drive out of Ballymoran save a few old women and children. The rest of her neighbors had risen with the dawn and set out for their fair hours ago. Clodah, being of two minds whether to go or not, had kept the ardent Jim waiting till she reached a conclusion. Now they rolled swiftly along in order to make up for lost time. The road was almost deserted save in the distance, where there were a few tardy wayfarers like themselves. And these, too, having the start of them, soon vanished. Clodah was contented enough. She felt that she was looking her best, and if she had any doubts on that score Jim's fluent tongue would have reassured her. She answered his lovemaking with laughing banter, and he was declaring for the twentieth time that he would make the kindest husband in the world when the jaunting car gave an abrupt lurch, and Clodah found herself sitting on one side of the road, while Jim scrambled up from the other. He did not even pause to ask her if she was hurt.

"Oh, be the powers," he ejaculated, "look at my foine car! The wheel's off, ruined entoirely."

"If it's the wheel that's troubling ye"— But Clodah's sarcasm was lost on him.

"My foine car!" he cried over and over again. From where they stood it was five miles to Ballymoran and five to Gulmullet. The fields and bogs stretched away unbrokenly to the sky line. There was not a cabin in sight.

"Well, can't ye do something?" said Clodah. Her ankle was paining her, and the sun was very warm.

But Jim was better at repartee than at meeting emergencies, and with his head on one side he considered the situation.

"I'm thinking we'll have to foot it," he said gloomily.

There was a sob in Clodah's voice.

"My ankle's wrenched, and 'tis not a step further I'll go," she avowed.

"You sit here thin and I'll go for help," said Jim, his face brightening.

"Yes, and it's fair time and the country full o' vagabonds! That's a grand idea, Mr. Jim Hagan, to leave me alone entirely by myself!"

Jim wilted.

"What'll we do, thin?" he demanded.

"We'll sit here till some one comes," said Clodah.

So they sat. Birds sang in the long meadow grass. A hare flitted by like a shadow. Nothing else stirred. The road stretched away white and deserted. Tim moodily scanned the horizon, and Clodah wondered if the sunlight would fade her ribbons. She wished devoutly that she had never come. Who could have supposed that her pleasure jaunt would end like this?

She cast a quick glance at Jim. The great, unfeeling umathaum! Never once had he asked her how she felt or if her fall had shaken her! Ah, Terry was the lad! Terry always knew what to do! And she had lost him—lost him through her own folly! Well, there was no good in thinking of that now, and she blinked hard to keep back the tears. It was near noon. Her throat was parched, and the pangs of hunger were astir. The sullen silence of Jim wore on her.

"Why don't ye say something," she burst out, "instead o' sitting there staring like a bump on a log?"

"Whist, Clodah, here's some one coming at last!"

Through a cloud of dust appeared a rickety little cart drawn by a gray donkey. Terry was on the front seat. The pig rode stolidly behind. At sight of their plight Terry halted. Clodah hung her head and could not raise her eyes. It was Jim who spoke first.

"We're in a fine mess," said he. "The wheel's broke, and Clodah's hurt her ankle."

"Has she now?" cried Terry, a note of anxiety in his voice.

"'Tis not so painful whin I sit still," said Clodah, "but 'tis like the curse of all the crows whin I try to walk."

"I'll tell ye the best way out," said Terry. "I'll take Clodah with me to the fair, and thin I'll send some one to help ye with your jaunting car. How will that be suiting ye?"

There seemed no other way, and Jim muttered that it would suit him very well.

"And you, Clodah?"

"If—if ye will take me," she said humbly.

"Here's a piece o' bread for ye, Jim," said Terry, "and a bit o' goat's cheese. Belike it will shtay your hunger till help arrives. Don't ate it too fast," he called back after he had helped Clodah up on to the seat beside him—"don't ate it too fast, for 'tis rich and likely to give ye the dyspepsia."

For awhile Clodah and Terry rode in silence. Then, "Clodah, girl," said Terry tenderly, "'tis a churl I am at times, but I meant nothing by it. Will ye forgive me for what I said last night?"

"Forgive ye," cried Clodah—"forgive ye! Oh, Terry, I'd rather ride with you and fifty pigs than with Jim Hagan and a coach and four!"

Russia's Great Library.

One of the proudest monuments to the memory of that benevolent despot, Peter the Great, is the imperial library of Russia, established by him in 1714. Present ranking places it third among the world's great libraries, preceded only by the National library at Paris and that of the British museum at London. It contains a million and a half volumes and 26,000 manuscripts. The most important accession it ever received was probably at the time of the suppression of the Society of Jesus in Russia, when most of the Jesuit collections were transferred to the imperial library. Among them was the famous collection of Count Zaluski, consisting of 260,000 volumes and 10,000 manuscripts, which had been installed at the Jesuit college in Warsaw. The most important manuscript in the library is the "Codex Sinaiticus" of the Greek Bible, brought to Russia by Professor Tischendorf in 1859 from the Convent of St. Catharine on Mount Sinai.—New York Tribune.

Comparative Color Blindness.

If a thousand men gaze at a garden of flowers, fifty of them will see the colors falsely. If a thousand women view them, nine hundred and ninety-six or seven will perceive the hues correctly. Of the six colors of the rainbow, which, mingled in thousands of combinations, give all the varying hues of sky and sea, of mountain and valley, some are never seen by the color blind or are felt only as light and shade of black and white. Very few persons are totally color blind, yellow, blue and violet being rarely lost. To the totally color blind all landscapes and objects are like an engraving in black and white.—Edward A. Ayers in Century.

Rattlesnakes.

Some persons believe that, in addition to ejecting venom through their fangs, rattlesnakes have the power to throw off poisonous dust. Some persons, it is claimed, are able even to smell a snake some distance away.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE

—Kinston, August 1: The standard on a log car giving way caused young Jack Knox, of Craven county, to lose his life. Young Knox, who was on a log train of the West Lumber Company at Folkstone, fell off, when the standard gave way and a heavy log rolled off the car on him, striking him on the head and killing him instantly.

—Goldsboro Argus: Some sixty or more convicts to work on the right-of-way and tracklaying to the new union passenger station, have arrived and are already at work. It is hoped that the station will be completed and ready for service by the first fo the new year. It is a big undertaking and requires time.

—Mount Olive Tribune: Mr. Geo. W. Williams returned to Mount Olive last week from Snow Hill, Greene county. He says that section of the State is developing very fast. The county has been held back for lack of railroad facilities, but now three railroads are being run through the county, one of which will go to Snow Hill. Mr. Williams reports the tobacco around Snow Hill the best in many years.

—Raleigh News and Observer, Aug. 2: Judge Thomas R. Purnell, of the Federal court, went to Beaufort yesterday afternoon to hold a special term of court for the trial of the Pitt county peonage cases, of which there are about 18. It is expected that at least two weeks will be consumed in the trial of these cases. Some other cases may be tried at this term. The court will be held at Beaufort instead of New Bern, because of the hot weather and the length of term. Judge Purnell was accompanied by his wife.

—Hillsboro Observer: Roy Wade, a colored boy, aged 10 years, was arrested Sunday by Mr. J. G. Ahern, a Southern Railway detective. Monday morning Wade was given a hearing before Justice of the Peace Jos. A. Harris, on a warrant for placing an arm of a telegraph pole, a piece of wood about five feet long, and some pieces of iron, on the rails of the Southern railway near the trestle, over Eno river, west of Hillsboro, on Friday, July 26. After hearing the evidence the little negro was held in a bond of $50 for his appearance at the term of the Superior Court which convenes next Monday.

—Raleigh News and Observer, Aug. 2: Advices received at the Raleigh postoffice from the department at Washington are to the effect that the following postoffices in North Carolina will be discontinued on the dates named, their territory to be served by rural free delivery routes from other postoffices: Como, Hertford county, August 15; Clear Run, Sampson, December 14; Trilby, Person, July 15; Owensville, Sampson, July 31; Dobbersville, Wayne, July 31; Cates, Person, July 15; Union Hill, Surry, July 31; Valentia, Surry, July 31; Spencerville, Moore, August 15; Poindexter, Yadkin, July 31; Yatesville, Beaufort, July 31; Panther Creek, Yadkin, August 15; Gaylord, Beaufort, July 31. The following named postoffices were established in North Carolina in July: Lundy, Mitchell county; Winsatt, Jones; Bee Tree, Buncombe; Boyden, Surry; Milbranch, Brunswick; Mayesworth, Gaston.

—Raleigh News and Observer, Aug. 2: At the instance of Special Agent I. W. Rogers, of teh Seaboard Air Line, three white men were before Justice of the Peace C. A. Separk yesterday on charges concerning the illegal appropriating of old brasses belonging to the eSaboard. W. H. Lancaster was charged with taking the brasses and selling them. He waived examination and was bound over to court in the sum of $100. He admitted taking the brasses, which were worn out and thrown aside at the company's warehouse. He gave as his reason for taking them that on account of his own illness and sickness of his family, they were in suffering circumstances and his inability to get money in any other way he was "forced to it," to take some of the old brasses and sell them. Walter L. Miller and E. F. Spears, junk dealers, were indicted for buying them. Spears was held for court in bond of $100 and Miller was dismissed.

—Whiteville Echo: Hon. H. L. Godwin, member of Congress from this district, spent several hours in Whiteville last Friday, leaving on the afternoon train returning to his home at Dunn, Harnett county. Mr. Godwin had visited Chadbourn and other points in the county before coming to Whiteville. To the inquries of the Echo man the clever Congressman said that he was here gathering data and arranging to have a soil survey made of our county by the government. Such a survey cannot but be of incalculable value to the people of the county, and the survey is made by the Federal government without one cent of cost direct from the people. Mr. Godwin also says that when our county gets ready for it he will assist the county authorities in securing an expert from the government department at Washington to come down and build us a mile or two of road, as an object lesson to our people in the construction of good roads. Mr. Godwin is ready and anxious to do something for our people, if we will only show that we desire to have something done for us.

THE COTTON MARKET.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

New York, Aug. 2.—The cotton market had quite a sharp advance immediately following the publication of the government's crop report today, but lost most of the gain later with the close barely seady at a net advance of 3 points on August and of 7 to 11 points on later months. Sales were estimated at 500,000 bales. The market opened steady at an advance of 2 points, to a decline of 1 point, which was about as due on the cables. Private reports of rain in the Western belt, followed by the official forecast predicting cloudy weather to showers for that section, promoted some selling during the morning, which was mostly for long account, no doubt, and the prices worked off to a net decline of about 5 to 8 points during the early session. Later the market steadied and when the government report was published showing an average condition of only 75 per cent., against 82.4 per cet., the ten-year average, prices advanced to 12.20 for October and 12.35 for January, or about 30 points above the low level of the morning and 23@25 points net higher. But the bullish figures did not seem to be bringing in a great deal of outside support, and the market eased off in the later trading under realizing. The trade had not been looking for an improvement in the average condition of the crop of less than four or five per cent for the month and a canvass made of eighty members of the trade yesterday showed an average expectation of 77 per cent., so that the official figures were considered very bullish, but were probably modified to some extent by the improved weather report from the South.

Receipts today 883 bales, against 890 last week and 31,314 last year. For the week 8,000 bales, against 7,953 last week and 29,970 last year. Today's receipts at New Orleans, ——, aginst 141 last year, and at Houston 363 bales, against 630 last year.

Spot cotton closed steady, 25 points advance; middling uplands, 13.25; middling Gulf, 13.50; sales none.

Cotton futures opened steady and closed barely steady.

DRY GOODS MARKET.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

New York, Aug. 2.—The market for dry goods holds very strong and many buyers are operating in a conservative way. Large contracts are entered into with cotton mills for goods to be delivered as far ahead as July 1908. Cotton yarns were easier for the day, but dealers think the losses in prices will be recovered in a few days under the impetus of the government cotton crop report. The market for carpets is very quiet.

LICENSE TAKEN FROM RAILROAD

Secretary of State of Alabama Revokes Southern's License to Operate.

IT VIOLATES STATE LAW

Railroad Removed Case From State to Federal Court, Contrary to Senate Bill—Act Itself Prescribes Penalty for Violation.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Montgomery, Ala., August 2.—The license of the Southern Railway to do business in Alabama has been revoked by action of Secretary of State Frank N. Julian who has caused to be entered upon the sub of such license in the records of his office, the statement that for violation of Senate bill No. 86, effective July 1st, the Southern Railway has been deprived of its right to do business in the State. The action of the Secretary of State is not in resistance of the restraining order issued by the United States court of the Fifth Circuit, as this law is not among those combatted by the railroads and not included in any of the litigation now pending in the court of Federal Judge Jones, of the middle Alabama district. The case upon which the revocation was made out came from the circuit court of Talladega county, in the shape of a notification from Clerk J. D. McNeel that a suit had been removed from the State court to the Federal court. Secretary of State Julian looked into the law and found that there was nothing else to do but mark the license cancelled, as the action of the statute is automatic.

Act 86 provides that when any foreign corporation is sued in the State courts and removes such suit from the State to the Federal court, the clerk of the court from which the removal was taken will at once certify such action to the Secretary of State "who shall thereupon immediately cancel said license and make and enter upon the stub thereon an order in substance."

Secretary of State Frank N. Julian announced that he had revoked the franchise of the Southern Railway Company because it had removed a case from the State Circuit court of Talladega county to the United States Circuit Court at Birmingham. This action of the Southern is alleged to be in violation of the two outlaw acts passed by the State Legislature last Winter, each of which provided that such removal should be punishable by a revocation of the charter of the offending railroad. One of these laws, the better known, was declared unconstitutional by United States Judge Thomas G. Jones, but the other has never been enjoined by the Federal courts. For this reason the action of the State official was taken under the provisions of the second of these "outlaw" acts. The State insists that this second outlaw act is still in force and it is entirely proper to act under its provisions, while the adherents of the railway contend the act of revocation is in contempt of the Federal court injunction, at least in spirit. Neither side would make an authoritative statement of the probable course to be pursued in the controversy today.

President Finley Comes South.

New York, August 2.—President W. W. Finley, of the Southern Railway, was at the Broadway offices of the company for a short time today but took an afternoon train for the South. He refused to comment upon the revocation of the ompany's license to do business in the State of Alabama.

UNWRITTEN LAW IN GEORGIA

Man Killed His Life-Long Friend for Insulting His Wife.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Savannah, Ga., August 2.—A special to the Savannah News from Baxley says:

Last night seven miles south of here N. A. Burnside was instantly killed by Clarence Gilmore, his life-long friend, school-mate and boarder for many months. Both moved here from Columbia, S. C., a few months ago and had been engaged in the steam saw mill here. Gilmore came in last night and surrendered to the sheriff. He stated that after retiring last night, his wife informed him that during the day Burnside had made improper proposals to her. Gilmore got out of bed and upon entering the room of Burnside killed him with a shot gun.

BRIDE AND GROOM ARE NOW IN JAIL

Couple in Illinois Charged With Murdering First Wife of The Man.

SHE DIED BY POISON

Other Means of Death Stated In Indictment—Hint That Woman Agreed to Commit Suicide to Let Couple Marry.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Clinton, Ills., Aug. 2.—The grand jury which has been investigating the death of Mrs. Pet Magill, the first wife of Frederick Magill, who, with his second wife, is in jail here, having been brought back from Calfornia to answer to the charge of having caused the death of Mrs. Pet Magill, today returned one indictment aginst Magill and one indictment against Mrs. Faye Graham Magill. The six counts in each indictments follow:

That Mrs. Pet Magill was murdered by the administration of strychnine poison; that the murder was done by arsenic; that she was smothered with a quilt; that she was strangled to death by chloroform; that she committed suicide as the result of a compact and agreement with the defendants and by their advice and counsel, in that her death was caused by the defendants, by some means unknown to the grand jury.

Magill and his bride of four weeks were in the court room when the indictments were returned.

During the afternoon session Judge Cochran sustained a motion to quash the sixth count of both indictments. He overruled the motion to quash other counts, holding that they were good. The defense immediately filed a motion to consolidate the two cases, so that both husband and wife would be tried together, and the court took this under advisement. The defense then asked that the trials be set as speedily as possible and Judge Cochran announced that tomorrow he would decide whether the trials shall begin next week or in November. The defendants pleaded not guilty.

CONDITION OF COTTON CROP

Government Report Makes It 75.0 Against 82.6 Ten Year Average.

FOUR LADIES KILLED.

Terrible Result of Accident to Automobile Party.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Jackson, Mich., Aug. 2.—A westbound car on the Detroit, Jackson and Chicago Electric Railroad struck an automobile containing five Jackson residents at Sutton's Crossing, about three miles east of here this evening. Mrs. Levi Palmer, Mrs. Emily Pulver and Bernice Oliver, a prominent business man of this city, who was driving the car, was probably fatally injured, while Mrs. R. A. Oliver, the fifth passenger, escaped with less serious injuries. Mr. and Mrs. Oliver and Mrs. Palmer were taken on board the electric car and brought to this city, but Mrs. Palmer died before they reached the hospital.

Two parallel electric road tracks, the unused Boland line, and the Detroit, Jackson and Chicago, cross the country road at the point, where the accident occurred. A house and some trees hid the approaching car. From the fact that the brakes on touring car were not set, it is believed that Mr. Oliver, who was driving the car, did not see the electric car. Bernice Oliver, one of the killed, was Mr. Oliver's daughter. Mrs. Pulver was Mrs. Oliver's mother, and Mrs. Palmer was their guest.

CHINESE WAR IN BOSTON ALLEY

One Society From New York Went There to Attack Another.

THREE MEN SHOT DEAD

Several Were Wounded in Fusilade of Shots—Two Societies Burned With Hate Toward Each Other. Shooters Escaped.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Boston, Mass., August 2.—Burning with hatred for their deadly enemies belonging to the rival On Leong Tong Society, a band of New York Chinamen, numbering a dozen or more and said to be members of the notorious Hop Sing Tong organization, entered a narrow alley in Chinatown tonight and drawing revolvers opened fire upon half a hundred Chinamen killing three and injuring seven. At the first volley the Chinamen rushed for their quarters, stumbling over one another in their haste to reach shelter. The Hop Sing Tong men chased their victims into their own doorways and shot them down as they rushed upstairs or into side rooms. Then casting away their guns the strange visitors ran from the Chinese quarter, most of them escaping the police.

The dead are: Wong Su Jung, aged 50, restaurant proprietor; Chin Let, aged 35, laundryman; Chin Mon Quin, aged 48, merchant.

Of the injured Lee Kai, aged 29, Shang Gu, aged 28, and Jong Gon, probably were fatally injured. The others are in a serious condition.

Immediately after the shooting one of the Hop Sing Tong men, from New York, as captured by a policeman as he was running away. The man gave the name of Nim Sing. He was dressed in American clothes. Later an officer at the South station took into custody Hong Woon, aged 34, of New York, whose hands were powder stained. Both prisoners are charged with manslaughter. The police placed under arrest on suspicion seven other Chinamen, who are strangers in the local colony.

The shooting occurred in Oxford place in the center of Chinatown where about fifty Chinamen were smoking in the open air. Fully fifty shots were fired. That the visitors shot with careful accuracy was apparent from the fact that each of the three men killed was shot through the heart.

The trouble of tonight has been anticipated for more than a week. About ten days ago nearly a dozen Chinamen who were all strangers came to Boston and rented rooms near Chinatown. The police were notified of the fact by Boston Chinamen who feared trouble. Special details of police were at once placed on duty in the Chinese quarter and the strangers suddenly disappeared.

The trouble is attributed by some to the shooting which occurred in Philadelphia recently for which it is said Boston Chinamen were partially blamed. It is thought the Chinamen who did the shooting tonight came from New York to punish the On Leong Tongs for the Philadelphia outbreak.

CHARGE OF FORCIBLE TRESPASS.

Mr. Alonzo Burriss Recognized for His Appearance in Superior Court.

In Justice Bornemann's court yesterday the interesting case of forcible trespass against young Mr. Alonzo Burriss was tried, there being several interesting complications which the justice decided he would prefer to pass up to the hgher court for settlement, recognizing the defendant for his appearance at the September term. It will be recalled that Mr. Burriss as president of the new baseball league organized by amateurs in the southern part of the city last week, was engaged in removing an old building from the grounds, using lumber of the same in the construction of a grand stand for all of which he had authority from the presumable owner of the property, who had exhibited the deed to the lessee. When Mr. Burriss tackled the house an old man resided there and he protested. Then followed the charge of forcible trespass and the arrest of Mr. Burriss. The defendant was represented by Col. A. M. Waddell and the prosecution by Hon. John D. Bellamy. The hearing lasted for some time and was finally disposed of as stated.

WORLD'S SUPPLY OF COTTON

Hester's Estimate Amount in Sight at 2,840,921 Bales.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

New Orleans, August 2.—Secretary Hester's statement of the world's visible supply of cotton issued today shows the total visible to be 2,840,921 bales, against 2,961,536 last week and 2,255,292 last year. Of this the total of American cotton is 1,750,921 against 1,789,536 last week and 1,185,292 last year and of all other kinds including Egypt, Brazil, India, etc., 1,135,000 against 1,172,000 last week and 1,070,000 last year.

Of the world's visible supply of cotton there is now afloat and held in Great Britain and continental Europe 1,725,000 against 1,135,000 last year; in Egypt 44,000 against 43,000 last year, India 676,000 against 725,000 last year; and in the United States 396,000 against 352,000 last year.
